KEY BENEFITS

Organize a conference within minutes

Extremely user-friendly and simple, the Ubity audioconference solution enables you to plan and join a conference within minutes. Our solution is so simple that it can be used without any training.

Stay in control of your conference

The conference administrator has a wide range of options to control the ongoing conference: thanks to an intuitive and online management portal, the administrator can see who is online and who is speaking, invite a new participant, and easily mute and expel a participant if required.

Obtain a conference report

At the end of each conference, the administrator receives a report by email. With this report, the administrator can see at a glance who attended and for how long and can also access an audio recording of the discussion.

Keep the call history of your conferences

A call history lists and keeps your past conferences. This feature is particularly handy for businesses that organize conferences on a regular basis.
